Local Teenager Who Just Discovered Masturbating Trying To Find Best Way To Get Parents To Move Him Into The Room With a Lock.

WASHINGTON DC- Mark Stevenson has been desperate to find any excuse to move into his brothers room that has a lock on the door. He explains "Jack is barely even home anymore since he went to college and his room just has so much more natural light!" His father is hesitant to allow their fervent masturbating son that much privacy, stating "It's just such hassle to move all of Marks things from his room all the way downstairs to Jack's room just so he gets a little more 'natural light'" saying while gesturing to his genitals.

New TV Show Just Snoop Dogg getting High and Doing The Dishes

LOS ANGELES- MTV announced plans to release a pilot episode for a new show in which America can tune in and watch rapper Snoop Dogg do his dishes whilst high. MTV executive Tim Bradshaw explains, "America simply cannot get enough of watching this high guy do different things, from cooking to watching nature documentaries, they love it. So we thought, 'Fuck it we got all these dishes that need to be done, lets kill two birds with one stone.'" While there is very little dialogue in the show, test audiences have enjoyed watching Snoop Dogg chuckle to himself or look fondly upon a memorable piece of dishware. Occasionally Snoop will explain to the audience that the water might be too hot, or perhaps too cold. He explains "sometimes it's hard to tell whether the water I use to rinse the dishes is too hot or too cold, because sometimes when water gets very cold it can feel like it's burning my skin." During the hour long show, there is a 10 minute intermission in which audiences can watch Snoop patiently wait for his hands to unprune. Snoop explains. "Sometimes the water makes my hands all prune, similar to the texture of dried plum, or prune as I like to call them. When this happens I don't like the way it feels so I have to wait about 10 minutes before I feel comfortable doing more dishes." Let's hope MTV has future plans to add more shows to the HSDCU (High Snoop Dogg Cinematic Universe)

Stunned Jury Forced to Find Air Bud Not Guilty

SEATTLE- The Framm family could only look on in silent horror as the Jury read the verdict. After a five month-long trial in which the golden retriever, Buddy (formerly Old Blue), pled "not guilty” against charges of rape and murder of his 12 year-old teammate Josh Framm. The jury was finally ready to read the verdict.

Joshua had been a basketball player at a local elementary school where Buddy, his dog, had inexplicably been allowed to join the team. What many saw as a publicity stunt had actually resulted in a complete shift in team dynamic. With Buddy leading the charge, the team managed to make it all the way to the championship game. It was at this time where Buddy’s aggressive nature became apparent to the public eye. Buddy took out the star player of the rival team with a lunging head butt, injuring him for the rest of his young career. Many fans cheered on his reckless behavior, labelling his physical play as "aggressive" or "competitive" as long as it lead to more wins for the franchise.

Former teammates had also complained of Buddy’s toxic locker room behavior. One anonymous player stated “He would come into the practice late and bark incessantly at us, nobody on the team could understand barking, but we just assumed he was trying to tell us that he was tired of carrying the team and that we would be nothing without him.”

Multiple dentists and police forensic officials confirmed that the teeth marks found on Josh's neck and legs matched Buddy's perfectly. Also, the irritation found on the victim was equivalent to irritation caused by a tiny red dog penis. However, after much deliberation the Jury concluded that nowhere in the states law book does it say that a dog can't rape and murder. It appears that Air Bud, will fly freely once again.

Tips For International Travel

- When on long flights, remember to chant “I do believe in fairies!” to ensure the fairies powering the plane don’t die.
- Regardless of what nation you’re in, it’s always polite to tip your pilot 15% of your ticket price.
- To quickly get through security lines, you can simply yell “I don’t have a bomb!” Security will thank you for making their jobs easier and respect you for your honesty.
- When weighing bags for check in, stand on the scale; it’s a perfect time to show off how much weight you lost by cutting carbs out of your diet!
- When you find yourself in international airports, it’s best to avoid duty free shops, as often times the devil will try to sell you magical items with horrifying and ironic repercussions.
